editors and journalists in convention here today, all of them prominent in the political life of Japan, a resolution Katsura, the premier, and his cabinet. This national convention of editors was held under the auspices of the Tokio Press Club, which had issued invitations to the editors of every influential newspaper in the Empire to attend and take an active part in the political movement. Soon after the invitations were issued representatives from hundreds of papers began to ar-rive at the capital and met today.

The object of the convention was solely to arouse public opinion to pro-test against the existence of the Kanryo ha, or bureaucratic cabinet with Prince Katsura at its head. The Kanryo-ha, it is declared by the Japanese editors, is a menace to the constitu-tional form of government and this must be prevented at once for the wel-fare of the nation.

Diet May Impeach.

TOKIO, January 17.—The thirtieth session of the Imperial diet, now in recess, will meet again on Monday next. It is proposed by the leaders of the Selyu-Kai and Kokumin To to impeach

Premier Katsora and his new ministry.
These two parties, which oppose the Kanryo-lin, possess a controlling majority in the chamber of deputies. Their plan is such that a resolution impeaching the premier before the throne be passed and handed to the Emperor.

Menuwhile the premier and his cabinet ministers threaten to disperse the dist when such a resolution is presented. The bitterness of political feeling is considerable.

(Re Federal Wiretess Telegraph.) LONDON, January 17.—(Special to The Advertiser(—Passed by the house of commons by a majority of 110, the Home Rule Bill today is awaiting sec-ond reading in the house of lords. This is believed to mark the beginning of one of the greatest struggles in the history of the long fight which Ireland has made for freedom in the past half century or more.

The measure was given its first technical reading immediately after the commons' vote last night, but on its second reading it is believed the peers will promptly reject it. Should this occur, the plans that the commons will repass the measure at the next session, which opens in March. If, after that, the lords again reject the bill, the commons will pass it for the third time in 1914. after which, under the operation of the recently passed "veto bill," the meas-ure will become law.
